

Heartland Homes Wins Building Excellence in Edmond Award

Oklahoma City – Heartland Homes received the Building Excellence In Edmond award for residential construction by the City of Edmond. Heartland received the honor at the inaugural awards breakfast held at the city's new Cross Timbers Municipal Complex on May 11.

Dave Osborn, President of Heartland Homes, accepted the award from Ed Steiner, Director of Building Services for the City of Edmond. Mr. Steiner stated that all Edmond builders were objectively judged on the percentage of rejection tags that they had received on their building sites in the last 12 months. According to city officials, excellence in the building industry is especially important in Edmond because it is such a significant contribution to the community.

"The City of Edmond is proud of the partnership with the building industry," said Ed Steiner. "The breakfast was a way to show the building industry our appreciation for a job well done."

"We are thrilled to have received this award from the City of Edmond and appreciate the recognition of our efforts," stated Dave Osborn. "It is a huge honor to be recognized among the premier builders in Edmond and it is our goal to continue providing beautiful, energy-efficient homes that the citizens of Edmond can be proud to call home."
